

Stacy Bascom

Stacy grew up dancing in Hamilton Township, N.J. She attended Mercer County's Vocational High School for dance at MCCC and went on to the University of the Arts in Philadelphia, PA to study dance performance.

After leaving college, Stacy performed, choreographed and taught all over New Jersey, eventually settling in Red Bank, where she founded the dance department at Red Bank Catholic High School. Throughout her career she has worked with kids of all ages, teaching creative movement, ballet, tap, jazz, modern, contemporary and yoga.

After 17 years directing the program at RBC she left, two years ago, to spend some quality time with her daughter, homeschooling her during the pandemic, pursuing a certification in kids' yoga and helping her husband with his business.

Stacy is extremely excited to be returning to Shoreline to teach dance and is really looking forward to working with all of the amazing students!